

WILSON OUTLINES HIS HAYTIAN POLICY

Fiscal Protectorate the Same as in Santo Domingo Is Indicated.

SENDS LETTER TO LANING

WASHINGTON, June 28.—President Wilson between business and recreation has passed a strenuous day. Consideration of international affairs called for a share of his time, but he was able to play eighteen holes of golf in the morning and then wind up with an all afternoon automobile ride.

Altogether he covered exactly 145 miles to-day, his motoring ending only when his dust-covered car stopped at Marlborough House as its big grandfather clock was chiming 3:30 to-night. Early in the morning the President was advised by Secretary Lansing of the arrest of Gen. Huerta and Orozco on the charge of violating the neutrality law.

The Sun correspondent is able to state authoritatively that the arrest of the two men was not at the President's specific direction. Indirectly, however, he personally ordered their detention, having issued standing orders when Huerta landed in this country three months ago that he should not be permitted to use this country as a base for revolutionary activity in Mexico and should not be permitted to return to Mexico.

In establishing close espionage constantly over Huerta, agents of the Department of State and Justice followed the orders which came from the President himself.

Active Interest in Huerta.

It can also be stated authoritatively that the President has an active personal interest in the developments of Huerta's case. The President refused to-day to commit further on the arrest of Huerta and Orozco. Secretary Lansing also advised the President of advice from Berlin forecasting the repatriation of Huerta. Government's last note on submarine warfare. It was understood that the President was advised that the reply will be favorable to the United States. The President's confidence has all during the recent course of the negotiations. The President has not yet been advised just when the note itself will probably reach the State Department.

The revolutionary troubles in Hayti were also taken up by the President. He let it be known that he has decided upon a definite policy as to Hayti. While declining to disclose it in detail, it is known that the President's plan has been outlined in a letter to Secretary Lansing. It is understood that this Government will take a course in Hayti similar to that in regard to Santo Domingo. President Sam will be advised that constantly recurring revolutions have brought Hayti into bankruptcy and that the collection and disbursement of Haytian revenues by United States representatives would be the most feasible solution, as is now being done in Santo Domingo.

The Long Motor Ride.

With Mrs. Sayre and Miss Bones as his companions the President left the "Summer White House" in an automobile soon after 2 o'clock this afternoon. The President told Driver White to keep going. While did, sometimes at twenty-five to thirty miles an hour on straightaway clear roads. Coming over to Windsor the Presidential party sped through Woodstock and then through the Green Mountains to Rutland, one of the most beautiful sections of the Vermont mountain country. He passed through dozens of quaint Vermont hamlets, but was recognized by very few persons.

On the outskirts of Rutland about 4:30 o'clock the President stopped for afternoon tea at the Otter Creek Tea House, which is more than 100 years old. Its proprietors are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brigham. The President and his traveling companions had sandwiches, chocolate cake with their tea. They stayed nearly an hour resting and examining the old furniture and heirlooms in the house. The President registered in the ancient guest book as "Woodrow Wilson and party."

In returning home via Rutland and Woodstock the automobile of the secret service men following the President's car balked and then refused to go. Jolting over the mountain roads had damaged the machine.

DYER FIXES A ROPE TO DIE.

Letter Leaving Burial Plot to Other Suicide Saves Him.

Charles Hakeberger, 65 years old, of 415 West Fifty-fifth street, in the dying business, made all preparations to die on Sunday night. He made his will, which disposed of his property and jewelry and an interest in a cemetery lot. He hammered a hook in the wall and made fast a rope with which to hang himself, and he wrote a letter to his friend Samuel Howard of 551 West Forty-ninth street.

His plans for committing suicide no doubt would have been successful if it had not been for the prompt delivery of the letter, which was mailed at 5:30 o'clock in the morning and delivered at 8 o'clock.

The letter contained a key to Hakeberger's apartment and said the writer was despondent over money losses. He asked that he be buried in the cemetery lot and that the three remaining graves in the plot be used for other men who had committed suicide.

Everything possible was done to relieve him, but he choked to death. He was an inspector of licenses and was married.

AMERICANS PENNED UP IN MEXICO CITY BY SIEGE

20,000 Foreigners in Capital as Carranza-Zapata Armies Battle for Possession—Washington Alarmed by the Situation.

Disorders Looked For.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Reports received at the State Department to-day showed conditions at Mexico City to be so acutely distressing as to lead officials to regard the situation there as overshadowing in importance the arrest of Gen. Huerta at El Paso yesterday. It was admitted that but for the European war the situation in the Mexican capital would be regarded by foreign governments as one demanding drastic relief measures.

According to advices received at the State Department to-day, the first word to the outside world from Mexico City in ten days, the city is being subjected to a siege under the most aggravated circumstances. A struggle probably is in progress now and it may continue for a long time with no chance for the 20,000 foreign residents to make their escape.

The danger to foreigners from the fighting between Carranza and Zapata forces for possession of the city are coupled with a desperate lack of food and a total inability to establish railway or telegraphic communication with the rest of the world.

Carranza Army Repulsed.

Consula Sullivan and Canada telegraphed a special messenger, who left Mexico City on the night of June 23, had arrived at Vera Cruz yesterday bringing the first word from the situation there. According to his statement the Carranza forces under Gen. Gonzalez were repulsed in their attack on the city. Carranza's forces are holding all available reinforcements to the aid of his commander.

Up to the 23d, most of the fighting had taken place in the northern suburbs of Mexico City. It is stated that in these engagements the Carranza forces lost their ammunition and other munitions of war. The majority of the Zapata forces, said to number 25,000, are just outside the city proper, occupying defensive works in front of the Constitutional position.

What has been the result of the fighting since the 23d is not known here. It is presumed that it has not been favorably to Carranza, as there has been no announcement of victory from Carranza headquarters at Vera Cruz. It is believed here that the two forces are in a deadlock.

HUERTA'S ESCAPE TO MEXICO IS FEARED

ions. According to these reports Huerta some time ago began negotiating with Turbide, who for several months has been in Washington interesting himself in plans to restore peace in Mexico.

Huerta is said to have asked Turbide to join his movement. Turbide declined, whereupon Huerta is said to have offered to accept Turbide's leadership. This offer, it is declared, Turbide accepted.

The villa agency to-night called attention to the interest Mayor Leo of El Paso is displaying in the welfare of Huerta and Orozco and asserted that he was the attorney for the Orozco faction in 1912. The agency also issued another denial of reports that Gen. Felipe Angeles was involved in the Huerta plans.

GAY TIMES FOR HUERTA.

To Dine With Newspaper Men and Review U. S. Troops.

EL PASO, June 28.—That's a rented bed; if you break it you will have to pay for it, said Gen. Victoriano Huerta, ex-provisional President of Mexico, as he laughed jocularly, to a delegation of newspaper men this afternoon who called at his daughter's flat.

The newspaper men invited him to be their guest at dinner Thursday night at a local hotel, and he accepted when they told him there would be no speeches and no interviews.

"Just a good time?" he said. "You are not inviting me as an ex-President of Mexico, are you? I am going just as one of you fellows, and some day you will all dine with me in my home in Mexico. That time is coming; just as sure as I am speaking this will happen. Now don't put it down in your books that Huerta said he was going to start another revolution in Mexico."

Col. Morgan, commander at Fort Bliss, invited the General to be his guest at a military review at Fort Bliss on Wednesday.

"I am on a vacation, for a good time," Huerta exclaimed, as he resumed talking to the correspondents. As far as could be seen no United States secret service men were about. The crowds that surrounded the place last night and caused extra police precautions dwindled away to-day, until this afternoon the street had its normal appearance.

Huerta when shown a Washington despatch stating that he had offered his services to the Turbide party in Mexico frowned and exclaimed: "Lies!" He denied any connection with the distribution here to-day of several thousand dodgers, bearing his portrait and the reprint of a signed article which he published in a New York newspaper some time ago on Mexico's needs. At the bottom of the dodgers was a printed call to "All Patriotic Mexicans" to rally to the standard of Huerta.

A number of his former leaders, including Marcelo Caraveo, Gen. Orozco, Gen. Joaquin Teller, his former principal adviser in the Carranza-Huerta campaign against Orozco and later the Huerta commander in Sonora; Gen. Francisco Castro, who commanded Juarez at the time Villa took it and later a commander at Ojinaga; Jose Rodriguez and Col. Flores, the latter two ex-Orozco commanders.

Huerta said they came to pay their respects merely.

Reports are current to the effect that a special session of the Grand Jury would be called in connection with the Huerta case. U. S. Camp, United States District Attorney for western Texas, with headquarters at San Antonio, arrived here to-night.

Americans arrived from western Chihuahua to-day said that the small moving bands that have been operating in that section are now combining and that they apparently have large supplies of arms and ammunition.

The bond of $15,000 is nothing to Huerta. Under similar circumstances

MORGAN TO KEEP UP MURRAY HILL FIGHT

Banker Accepts Protective Association Presidency for Second Time.

EXTENSION WORK BEGINS

That J. P. Morgan is as keenly interested in the protection and preservation of the Murray Hill district as his father was in his lifetime is evidenced by the fact that he has consented to serve a second term as president of the Murray Hill Association, which was formed last year.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting of the association, held at Mr. Morgan's home, are Warren Deano, secretary; George R. Sheldon, treasurer, and William Church Osborn, William D. Guthrie, and Dr. W. K. Draper as additional directors.

The association decided to urge upon the Park Commissioner with renewed energy the opening of the park areas on Park avenue, between Thirty-fourth street and the Grand Central Terminal, to the children of Murray Hill children. Mr. Morgan, executive secretary of the association, said in his report that the children of Murray Hill are worse off in the matter of playgrounds than the children of any other part of the city.

The construction of a walk through the center of Park avenue's park area would give Murray Hill children a much needed playground. It was said, besides adding to the beauty and usefulness of these enclosed spaces. Benches for public use would be provided under the plan.

It is not the intention, the report said, to do away with the park areas or to remove railings. As a matter of fact, it is thought that the children of this district would show a consideration for the property of the city that will be notable.

The effect of the decision of the Court of Appeals permitting the construction of apartment houses on the site of the old South Reformed Church at Madison avenue and Thirty-eighth street has caused uneasiness among persons living near that property, the report said, and much persuasion has to be used to prevent removals. The property is still in the hands of the church wardens, and according to gossip is in the market again for sale.

The company which succeeded in having the courts pass on the legality of the Murray Hill covenant as to apartment houses, it was said, has only a small amount on contract for the purchase of the property, which contract is said to have run into considerable pressure.

The association plans to extend its influence over the district east of Lexington avenue, according to statements made after the meeting in the hope of obtaining results such as were obtained in the Beacon Hill district of Boston, a district which deteriorated from a fine one into a poor one and then regained its former place in the city.

The association now has 128 members, of whom thirty-seven are women.

SLATON SLIPS AWAY FROM FRANK'S FOES

Ex-Governor of Georgia Quietly Leaves Atlanta for Visit to New York.

SHOTS FLY AT HIS HOME

ATLANTA, June 28.—Ex-Gov. John M. Slaton, accompanied by Mrs. Slaton, left this afternoon at 2:35 o'clock for New York, where they will spend some time prior to a trip West. No incident marred the departure of the former Governor and his wife.

Accompanied by several friends they went quietly to the depot, where their presence was hardly noticed. Several plainclothes men accompanied them. Late to-night all troops were withdrawn from the Slaton country estate, their place being taken by private guards.

Shots were exchanged about 3 o'clock this morning between the troops and marauders near the Slaton home. Several people, the officers say, were lurking in the dark near the posts of the sentries thrown about the residence. The sentries approached these people and ordered them to advance. Instead they ran, and the sentries commenced firing. Shots were returned by the fugitives, who escaped. Later four men were arrested as prowlers about the place, but were released.

The twenty-six men who were arrested near the Slaton home early Saturday morning will be prosecuted. It is expected that the men will be arraigned before the civil court instead of a court-martial.

Ex-Governor Slaton slipped from his guarded home Sunday morning and went to the First Methodist Church, of which he is a member and where he teaches the largest Bible class in Atlanta. He addressed the members and bade them farewell, telling them he was going away for some months.

With the departure of the ex-Governor it is believed normal conditions will be restored in Atlanta and Georgia. Gov. Harris issued a statement to-day to the people of Georgia in relation to the condition existing when he became Governor on Saturday, which necessitated his holding the State troops at the residence of ex-Governor Slaton, owing to the "manifestation of resentment shown toward my predecessor on account of the Frank case."

After explaining that troops were kept at the Slaton home at the request of Sheriff Mancum, who represented he was not able to control the crowds, Gov. Harris said: "I am sorry that the state of affairs arose which necessitated such action on the part of the State while I was in office. I think that protest, denunciation and other similar measures which

FACTIONAL FIGHTS AT ZIONISTS' CONGRESS

Opinions Differ in Boston Over Calling of a Jewish Conference.

ARRIVALS AT THE HOTELS.

BOSTON, June 28.—The opening session of the Federation of American Zionists to-day was not a harmonious gathering. There was a difference of opinion as to what organization should have charge of arrangements for calling a Jewish congress and what should be its purpose.

Dr. Louis Lipsky read resolutions of the American Jewish Committee in New York calling for a conference at Washington in November to consider the condition of Jews in belligerent lands. The resolution limited the attendance to 50 and suggested that a committee of seven be appointed to select organizations to be represented at the conference. Many of the delegates did not approve of so small a representation and they viewed the proposal of the American Jewish Committee as too exclusive.

The provisional committee adopted resolutions to invite other national Jewish organizations to issue a joint call for the congress, "to secure civil status for all Jews in all the lands."

This seemed to some delegates to be a slap at the New York committee. After a long discussion it was decided to refer the entire matter back to the provisional committee.

Among the well known men on the platform were Prof. Richard Gotthelf of Columbia University, Dr. Harry Friedland, honorary president of the American Zionists; Israel Cohen of London, Bernard Zimmell, representing the Galician Verband of New York, Shmarya Levin of Berlin, Louis D. Brandeis and Dr. Cohen of Philadelphia, who urged the delegates to stop factional fighting and stand together in the great movement proposed.

The Zionists assembled at Mechanics Hall this evening for their annual banquet. Among the speakers were Louis D. Brandeis, Nathan Straus, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Dr. B. Epstein, Judge Julian W. Mack, Nathan D. Kaplan, Jacob De Haas, Dr. S. Levin, Charles H. Streck, Joseph Horowitz, Rabbi S. Margolis and Louis Lipsky. Rabbi M. M. Eichler recited grace and Louis A. Kerstein was toastmaster.

MISS BIGGAR FIGHTS LAWYER.

Objects to Paying $2,500 Fee Through ex-Doctor.

Objection to the payment of an attorney's fee of $2,500 to A. J. Leonard by Miss Laura Biggar, an actress, was made yesterday before Vice-Chancellor John Griffin in Jersey City by Charles Hendricks, a lawyer and former physician. Leonard, Miss Biggar's lawyer in litigation in connection with an estate which she received from George M. Bennett, who died in Pittsburgh fifteen years ago, said she would give her 60 per cent. of her estate, which was supposed to amount to $100,000.

Miss Biggar met Hendricks when she was a patient at his sanitarium in Bayonne. Hendricks's wife sued Miss Biggar for $50,000 for the alienation of his affections.

Hendricks urged yesterday that $1,500 would be a sufficient fee. Leonard said Miss Biggar had agreed to pay him $2,500. Decision was reserved.

Woman Ends Life With Gas.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 28.—Mrs. Anna Baker, 43 years old, wife of William Baker, a banker, committed suicide this evening by inhaling gas. She was found dead in a rooming chair in her room, the tube still in her mouth. She was ill and had become despondent.

SAVING MONEY

If a man hoards money in a secret hiding place, he is really losing money in the process of saving it, for that money in a sound savings institution would earn interest. Similarly, the man who tries to save money on a building operation by employing a contractor solely on the score of price, is very apt to lose money by missing a rental period due to delayed construction. No man can save money who cannot see farther than the dollar in hand!

CLOAK MAKERS SEND STRIKE ULTIMATUM

75,000 Offer Arbitration, With Mayor or L. D. Brandeis as Board Chairman.

The joint board of the cloakmakers unions, the directors of the Ladies' Garment Workers Union and the executive committee of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union after a conference yesterday in the Madison Hotel, issued a general strike ultimatum to employers of cloak and suit manufacturers in New York City.

The ultimatum gives the manufacturers one week in which to meet the demands for wage shop conditions or agree to a plan of arbitration as submitted.

"The situation as we view it," said the letter sent to the employers, "is that of but one answer. Either the employers and workers will get together on a fair and reasonable working agreement for at least the near future or our union will find itself involved in a struggle with many manufacturers and suffering privation for tens of thousands of workers and many more thousands of persons directly or indirectly dependent upon our industry."

"In order to secure a complete and speedy adjustment of all disputes and avoid any prolonged and fruitless discussions and negotiations we propose that our respective contentions be referred to a committee of arbitration composed of unbiased persons under the presidency of Louis D. Brandeis or Mayor Mitchell or any other person of recognized standing in the community upon the express understanding, however, that such board render its decision within no longer than two weeks from the date of its selection."

MONTCLAIR DRY 12 DAYS.

Council Votes to Defer Granting of Liquor Licenses.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 28.—Montclair will be dry for twelve days after Thursday. The Town Council voted to-night to defer the granting of liquor licenses for that period. In the meantime an ordinance permitting the Council to grant short term licenses will be enacted.

The purpose of this action is to make it possible to grant licenses for a term less than one year, the future course of the Council to be determined by a referendum on the liquor question, which will be taken next November.
